The Métro is the cheapest, easiest and fastest way to get around Paris. There are 16 metro lines marked by different colors and numbers and some 300 metro stations.

The entrance is indicated by a large yellow letter 'M' and "Sortie" means 'Exit'.

Metros start running every day – including public holidays – at around 6am and stop at around 12.45am (from Sunday to Thursday) or at 1.45am (on Friday and Saturday).

The frequency at which metros run depends on the time and day: at peak hours, metros run every 2 minutes.

Metro tickets cost € 1.90 each (€18.60 for 10 [ask for 'un carnet']). You can buy tickets at automatic ticket machines in metro stations, in tobacconists and on the website PARISINFO.COM.

Metro tickets are valid in zone 1 and 2 only.

Free metro maps are available at ticket offices in stations.
